Arlington Gets New U. S. Air Station

Air Raid Sirens Will Be Tested Next Wednesday Night

Over 1,000 acres to be rezoned for airport south of village

Although no government official will admit that the rezoning of sections of farm lands in Palatine, Wheeling, and Elk Grove townships is for the purpose of establishing an air training station at Arlington for the Navy, Paddock Publications have reason to believe that the following story is authentic.

Arlington Heights will be the site of a new air training station that will equal in area and even surpass the Curtis-Wright airport at Glenview that is now operated by the Navy.

A notice of public hearing that will be held Thursday, April 16, at Glenview, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights and Palatine for the purpose of rezoning large tracts of land for airport purposes is published in this issue of Paddock Publications. Interests identified with the project had kept their plans so secret that the receipt of zoning notice was the first intimation that additional farm land in northwest Cook county would be pressed into service, probably by the government.

Reports that the Western Airlines was interested do not seem plausible as no attempt has been made to acquire the property in question from individual farm owners. The government would be the only one who could step into the picture and take the property under condemnation. The property involved is as follows:

Elk Grove township—the fractional sections 4, 5 and 6, which are immediately south of the village of Arlington Heights; that part of section 8 that lies north of Algonquin road; the west half of section 9. This tract takes in the Moehling, Rascher and other farms southwest of Arlington Heights.

Wheeling township—that part of section 31 lying south of Kirchhoff road and west of Arlington Heights village limits.

Palatine township—east half of section 36. It is now learned that the west half of this section was zoned for airport purposes over a year ago. This tract takes in some farms which have in recent years been improved with estate homes.

The eastern boundary of the tract is half a mile west of Arlington Heights road; southern line is Algonquin road; west line is the old Rohlfing road and the north boundary is the race track property, part of which is included. Curtis field extension.

The Glenview hearing is for the rezoning of 640 acres adjoining that field, taking in land a half mile deep and 1 1/2 miles long. The hearings, held all on the same day are at 5:30, 7:30, 8:00 and 9:00 p. m. respectively.

Paddock Publications also have information that the government is leasing land from farmers in the vicinity of Barrington and Palatine roads for the purpose of building runways. A similar project was announced for Schaumburg and Bloomingdale townships last week in the Roselle edition of Paddock Publications, as follows:

The United States government has completed negotiations with local farmers in Bloomingdale township in DuPage county and Schaumburg township in Cook county for the lease of 180 acres of land for air fields, it is reliably reported from local sources this week. The farms are said to be the Johnson, McNaught and Blue Top, each of which is leasing 60 acres at a rental of $15 per acre a year.

According to these sources these leases are a part of the anti-aircraft protection scheme mapped out by the army for metropolitan Chicago. The city it is said will be ringed with fighter aircraft based every four miles in a great circle. The leases, it is said, provide for great concrete runways and housing depots. The local leased area runs from Schaumburg to south of Cloverdale.

John Allen now a staff sergeant

John G. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Arlington Heights is a staff sergeant. John is a little modest and had not written home anything of his advancement, but the card which accompanied an Easter bouquet, told the story. Sgt. Allen is in the medical detachment at Camp Robinson, Ark.

V. F. W. to hold election of officers

Arlington Post No. 981, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold election of officers this Friday evening.

Our County Sup't of Schools

Noble J. Puffer, our county superintendent of schools, is a candidate for renomination at the primaries next Tuesday. Under the party system of this government, Republicans can not vote for him.

He has no primary opposition, but the service to the schools of the county that he has given deserves recognition from both Republicans and Democrats at all times. His name may appear on the Democratic ticket, but he is first and last a school official who has kept politics out of his office. He is admired by the school men of the entire county as well as educators of the state and nation. He is recognized as an authority on educational matters.

Democrats should go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for Puffer. They should not stay home just because there is no party contest for county offices.

Furnace causes fire Floyd Dobbins home

Fire broke out Sunday at the home of Floyd Dobbins, 627 So. Highland, Arlington Heights, while the family was away from home. It was discovered by neighbors who called the fire department about one o'clock. Floor joists were partially burned through and the place so filled with smoke that a complete redecorating job will be necessary. Loss is about $1,000.

Casualties were a dog which suffocated in the basement and a pet canary. Auxiliary firemen were present and were a great help to the regulars.

Saves Tires But Auto Burns

Wm. Miles has three perfectly good tires, but no automobile. When he awoke the other morning he discovered smoke pouring out of his garage. He called Chief Jahn, who responded with his son. They found a burning automobile, which they pushed out of the garage. Firemen extinguished the blaze, but the interior of the car was wrecked. The spare tire was burned and one tire was flat. The others are ready for service.

'Seeing eye dog' rhythm band featured Friday

The Mother's club of St. Peter's Lutheran school is offering something decidedly different in entertainment this Friday, 8 p. m.

A blind young woman, Miss Mila Baker, will appear with a highly trained "seeing-eye dog." She will tell how these dogs are trained and show by actual demonstration how efficiently they guide the blind.

In addition the snappy rhythm band of our school will perform and a group of our talented children will present a patriotic play "All Out for America."

Admission is 28 cents for adults and 17 cents for children.

Towns not liable for defense hurts

Attorney General George F. Barrett recently held that municipalities are not liable for injuries received by volunteer air raid wardens, auxiliary police, auxiliary firemen, or other local defense council workers during the course of their activities. This has been the subject of discussion on numerous occasions. Mr. Thal, village attorney, had previously given a similar opinion to the village board.

'42 Primary election is next Tuesday

Every voter should go to the polls next Tuesday and express his or her preference for the various candidates to represent the big parties at the important election this fall.

Foremost on the various tickets and uppermost in the interest of the voters are the candidates for United States senator.

On the republican ballot C. Wayland Brooks looks like a walk-over over Warren Wright, present state treasurer, who lays his chief claim to the nomination to the fact that he came out with a blanket endorsement of the foreign policies of President Roosevelt.

This fact, however, doesn't seem to make much of an impression on the republican voters who are loyally sticking to a real republican candidate and are wholeheartedly for Senator Brooks to succeed himself. In all straw polls, Brooks is making it a landslide and the election next Tuesday will confirm the trend of the polls.

On the democratic ticket the battle for the senatorial nomination is a hotter affair with Raymond McKeough, the hand-picked candidate of the Kelly-Nash machine being opposed by Alderman Paul H. Douglas who has been dashing all over Illinois telling the folks about how his opponent was chosen by the ring in a smoke filled back room with the door locked, the shades drawn and the transom closed.

Alderman Douglas single-handedly battled against the machine assuming something of the magnitude of former Gov. Henry Horner's crusades against the same outfit and thus far in the straw polls, Mr. Douglas is leading the machine candidate by substantial margins.

The whole force of the powerful machine will be turned loose in the closing days to defeat the voluble Douglas who holds that this is a people's primary where the voters have as much right to pick a candidate as to the boys in "the smoke filled back room."

On the republican ticket there are considerably more candidates, offices showing that the boys in the back room on the democratic side of the fence, got together and put aside some bitter personal differences by nominating what looks like a slate that will attempt to keep harmony in the party.

Candidates to be nominated by both parties Tuesday include U. S. Senator, State Treasurer, State Supt. of Public Instruction, Representatives in Congress from the various districts, members of state central committee, State Senators from the different districts, County Clerk, County Judge, County Treasurer, Sheriff, Assessor, Judge of the Probate Court, Clerk of the Criminal Court, County Supt. of Schools, members of the County Board, President of the County Board, and Township Committee-men.

Tax dead line near

The tax collections in the county towns are proceeding at an average pace during the last ten days following the largest opening week in many years.

Country town tax payers should see their local collectors during the next ten days or so, as the local collectors do not have the books until the May 1 dead line which applies to collections made at the county building in Chicago.

Chicago taxpayers are beginning to become "tax conscious" now that they have all received their bills and the rush at the county treasurer's office is becoming heavier every day.

The last week's crush at that office is something long to be remembered by anyone who has ever been compelled to buck that line so the rural tax payers can save themselves much discomfort by paying to their local collectors during the next ten days.

Lieutenant Annen returns to Camp Wolters, Tex.

Lt. William N. Annen, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Annen, 903 N. Dunton ave., returned to his post at Camp Wolters, Texas, Thursday of this week after spending three weeks with his family.

Lt. Annen was recently appointed on the staff there instructing commissioned and non-commissioned officers.

Delinquent water users come across in a big way

Delinquent water bills are the lowest in history according to the report made to the board of trustees Monday evening. Over $800 was collected on delinquent bills in the past two weeks.

President Goedke and the board of trustees commended Supt. Wm. Luehring on the "good work." Mr. Luehring stated that all consumers were given the same treatment, a final notice and unless payment was received, service was discontinued.

New list of draftees

Cook County Selective Service Board No. 1, is sending a group of men to the induction service next week that is nearly as large as any that have previously been called to army service. Many of them are taking physical examinations this week. Included with the group will be a volunteer, Felix Brzostowski, of Palatine. Those from this immediate vicinity are:

Legion Monte Carlo party on April 18

Saturday night — bath night comes every week, but Saturday night, April 18, comes but once a year. Yes sir, you wouldn't be able to stand the gaff for more than once a year. What is it? You ask; well I'll tell you—

It's the rip-roarin', high flyin' Monte Carlo party that Merle Guild Post of the American Legion is sponsoring at their club house. You ask—what's on the docket? Now wouldn't you like to know, but that would be letting "the pussy out of the sack." Just you come out and see what a lot of fun you can have for a few cents — perhaps win your fortune.

Remember—April 18 at the Legion club house. Doors of the casino will be open at 8:00 p. m. See you then.

Visits husband at Camp Robinson

Mrs. Richard Adams, of the telephone exchange, spent the week-end with her husband, "Sparky" Adams at Little Rock, Ark., leaving Thursday night and returning Monday night. "Sparky" was granted a two day leave for the occasion which the two greatly enjoyed as it is summer time down there with trees and flowers in bloom.

"Sparky" expects to be transferred within a short time. Many others in the same camp have left or expect to go soon.

Mrs. Adams has made the trip to the camp so frequently that she has made many acquaintances which adds to the pleasure of the journey. While on her way home, she called on Mrs. E. Elfeld at St. Louis.

Arlington board outlines dog ordinance

The Arlington Heights village board had a lot of business to transact Monday evening due to the three weeks interval between sessions.

The board instructed the attorney to submit amendments to the ordinance governing dogs in the village. The ordinance will include provisions for the muzzling of dogs running at large. There will also be provisions making it unlawful for dogs to run at large if they constitute a nuisance. The above amendments together with other minor changes were approved with one dissenting vote, Alderman Griffith voting no.

The police reported collection of $168 in fines since March 16, $660 in business licenses, $195.50 for vehicle tags, and $172 for dog licenses. The collection of dog licenses will continue until every home owner has been contacted. There is no favoritism. If you own a dog and have not secured a license, there is little doubt that the "men in blue" will be calling on you soon. Tickets are also being issued on delinquent vehicle tags.

A defective switch was instrumental in the failure of the north pump last Saturday. It was necessary to again call on the race track for help, which brought numerous complaints from housewives about the "riled" water. The pump was back in operation the next day.

A plan submitted for the pump house at the new well was unsatisfactory. Alderman Frank agreed to call on the engineers and enlighten them regarding instructions previously given them. The board will have a special meeting to approve the plans when submitted, thus hastening the supply of water from the new well.

A report that the water is safe for drinking was submitted by the water department. These samples are taken every month to safeguard the health of the community. The pumping record showed the village consuming almost 17 million gallons of water in March.

Notices will be mailed to all water consumers with the May 1 bill asking cooperation to safeguard public health, particularly against rabies, by disposing of any garbage, rubbish, etc. All garbage must be kept in covered cans, or buried immediately under a foot of earth.

Amendment to liquor ordinance

The board paved the way to allow the operation of a "package goods" liquor store in the village. The attorney was instructed to submit an amendment to legalize the operation of a Class B liquor store. The section allowing such a store was repealed a few years ago. The applicant will pay the large and publication costs, plus $150 per year. The contemplated location is the (former A&P store) in the Krause bldg., East Campbell street.

Where you can pay your taxes

The Wheeling township collector, Mr. Wm. Annen, will be at the Arlington Heights National bank every day during regular banking hours until April 23, inclusive, except April 16 at the Wheeling State bank and April 17 at the Mt. Prospect state bank.

Mr. Albert J. Kraemer, Elk Grove township collector, announces that he will be at the Mt. Prospect State bank during regular banking hours every day until April 23, except April 16 when he will be at the Arlington Heights National bank, and Friday, April 17, at Itasca State bank.

Palatine firemen vote salaries to building fund

The boys of the Palatine fire department this week voted to put their last year's salaries into their building fund in order to complete the new fire house with some needed finishing touches.

This action by the firemen will enable them to completely pay for the new $12,000 building without going into debt.

The action of the firemen is in anticipation that the village board will pay those last year's salaries promptly at the end of the fiscal year.

Our County Commissioner

Mr. William Busse is rounding out years of service on the county board by becoming a candidate for Republican nomination for the presidency of that body. If any republican can be elected to that office, that man is Mr. Busse.

The years of public service that he has given would have ended a long time ago, but for his honesty and ability. As the dean of the county board he has had a hand in fostering worthwhile projects of the county. He has fought just as zealously the things that he abhorred. Through it all he has held the respect of Republicans and Democrats alike.

His nomination at the primaries mean his election as a member of the county board and perhaps its presidency. Every vote for him next Tuesday means a vote for clean politics and efficient government.

China relief asks donations

A letter addressed to Mayor Goedke from the United China Relief, Inc., 1790 Broadway, New York, N. Y., requested an organization be formed by the mayor to handle a campaign in Arlington Heights. The suggested quota for the city is $750.00.

While it is doubtful if the quota will be reached, since a chairman to conduct the campaign has not been found, anyone wishing to make contributions may do so directly to the address listed above.

It will perhaps interest local residents to learn that back in 1918 China was asked for $100,000 for the U. S. War Work Fund and they gave $1,425,000.00. Again in 1937, after the Ohio flood, the Chinese people on their own accord, raised more money for the flood victims than any other country excepting Canada. These are only two of a multitude of similar examples of their friendship. There has been no peace in China since July, 1937. They need help. Send your contributions to United China Relief, Inc., 1790 Broadway, New York, N. Y.

Elk Grove township drops relief tax

Elk Grove electors showed their confidence in their township officers Tuesday by the small attendance at the town meeting which was held in the town hall, corner Arlington Heights and Higgins roads. Only a handful of voters were present to hear the good news from Supervisor Wille that there is no necessity to levy relief tax this coming year. The levy the previous year was two mills. There is only $3,000 in the relief fund and the case load comprises only one family.

A township tax for general purposes of $2,800 was authorized. Supervisor Wille informed the electors that Elk Grove township has no outstanding bills or tax warrants and that the town tax is probably one of the lowest in the Chicago area.

Niles highway commissioner is in trouble

Edward O. Clark, Niles township highway commissioner, must explain to the state's attorney's office how he spent $20,000 in town funds in three years on a mile of highway. His failure to publish an annual statement or to file his report with the county clerk brought the investigation.

The only road that remains under the jurisdiction of commissioner is a mile. He retained his office and spent a lot of money by keeping in condition a number of roads that are within municipalities.

Civilians asked to pay no heed

Signals' range is reason for 6 minute trial

When you hear the sirens shrieking at 7 p. m. Wednesday, April 15, just lend an ear, but don't take cover. The Chicago metropolitan area will be having its first air raid warning and the Arlington Heights Civilian Defense will be testing its warning equipment and wants to know how effective it is.

The air raid warning signal will cover a six-minute period, from 7 p. m. to 7:06 p. m. It will be followed by an "all clear" signal sounded from 7:10 p. m. to 7:16 p. m. Air raid wardens and auxiliary police will station themselves inside closed buildings to check the effectiveness of the test in their blocks. They will report their findings to the local OCD office.

When the return comes in, Defense officials will be able to tell where the signal system needs reinforcement.

One fire truck will be stationed on the north side of town and one will be stationed on the south side and their sirens will give the signal simultaneously with the siren in the village hall.

Remember this is only a test for warning equipment and is not a black-out.

School elections next Saturday

Elections will be held Saturday evening for members of the boards of all schools in Cook county. In the village of Arlington Heights, the election will be held in the municipal building between six and nine o'clock. The high school district has two polling places, at Arlington Heights municipal building and Mt. Prospect public school. The hours are noon to seven o'clock. There is no opposition to the candidates of either of the local boards.

High school candidates are: Clarence I. Davis for president; Walter C. Hanauer and Elmer F. Laurin for members, whose terms expire this year.

Elementary school candidates are: C. E. McWharther for president; John S. Monroe and Arthur C. Culey for members, new candidates. Mr. McWharther is taking the place of President Carlson who is retiring. Eugene Stroker is also retiring as a member.

Troy D. Lee was elected township school trustee last Saturday. The number of votes cast slightly exceeded the number of election officials.

Both parties to elect township committeemen

There is no opposition for the positions of township committeemen at the primaries next Tuesday, but there are probably many voters who are not acquainted with that office and will be elected to that office at the primary. All of them are people who have given loyal service to their respective parties. Upon them will rest the responsibility of apportioning party patronage. The local party machinery centers around the township committeemen who under the law are recognized as the political spokesmen of their party. They are:

Wheeling township—Republican, Henry A. Busse; Democratic, Homer J. Byrd.

Palatine township—Republican, George W. Howes; Democratic, Roy L. Londe.

Railroad car shortage acute

When W. R. Comfort Sons, Palatine fuel dealers got a car of hard coal this week in a box car with the roof missing and a car of coke in a cattle car with woven wire nailed around the car to keep the contents from falling out, people began to get some idea of the car shortage which faces the railroads.

With the railroads forced to use everything on wheels in the transportation of war supplies, cars which have been discarded and in the yards for years, are forced into active service.

Some of the freight trains going through town look so dilapidated that it seems as though they might fall apart before they can get very far.

Wheeling man trains dogs to protect defense plants
The Necker kennels, north of Wheeling, are training Doberman Pinscher dogs for guard duty for defense plants. A number of dogs are now in service, according to Mr. Necker who gave a demonstration Tuesday at a Chicago plant. The dogs sell for $500 each after five months training by Mr. Necker.
The dogs are trained to release plant guards that may have been tied up by saboteurs as well as to attack prowlers. They are so quick and are so trained that a stranger is unable to get a gun in action before the dog has the gun arm (left or right) in his teeth, forcing the man to drop the weapon. A picture story of the Doberman dogs appeared across the page of a Chicago daily Wednesday and an account of the power of the dogs was broadcast later that morning over WGN.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES
The Golden Text was, "If a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand" (Mark 3:25).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For ye see calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called: But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty; That no flesh should glory in his presence" (1 Cor. 1:26, 27, 29).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "At present mortals progress slowly for fear of being thought ridiculous. They are slaves to fashion, pride, and sense. Some time we shall learn how Spirit, the great architect, has created men and women in Science. We ought to weary of the fleeting and false and to cherish nothing which hinders our highest selfhood" (p. 68).

New homes decline during March
Building Commissioner Taeger reported to the Arlington Heights village board Monday evening that permits were issued for only two new homes during March. The estimated cost was $14,500 for both. With all the criticism and shortages of necessary materials, it is only reasonable to expect a sharp decline in residential building.
Auxiliary firemen doing fine work
In the report of two fires given to the board of trustees Monday night, Chief Jahn included a note regarding the services of the auxiliary firemen. The Chief reported they are doing a fine job and their efforts are appreciated by the department.

If your breath is not sweet is your breath is not sweet

by C. W. LUSSMAN of Sieburg Pharmacy

If halitosis has become a problem to you, and worse still, to your friends, by all means see your dentist. When you know that your mouth is healthy and if the condition remains then a visit to your doctor is imperative.

Any one of several factors may contribute to bad breath, among them a faulty digestion, a sinus condition, infected tonsils, lung disease, and any one of these call for medical diagnosis and treatment. Bad breath, like a headache, may indicate something serious. It is well to know where the trouble lies.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wisersky and family were Easter day guests in the home of Mrs. Mary Branch of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Capps were hosts to twenty-five friends on Easter Sunday for breakfast, preceding the church services. Flowers and Easter decorations throughout the rooms gave a holiday atmosphere to the party, which is an annual affair in the Capps' home.

Mrs. Charles Mills learned recently in a visit with her daughter in Hammond, Ind., that the bandits who held up the Mills and a group of bus passengers at Christmas time, have been apprehended. The gang was larger than realized, with seven already caught.

Moline Elms Show Rapid Growth at High School

The Moline Elm was first discovered along the shores of the Mississippi River by one Butterworth of Moline, Illinois. Thus the name placed on the trees, ideal for streets and parks.

Many cities have planted Moline Elms along their streets and parkways, among them Milwaukee, Wisconsin, which has used 70,000. The limbs of these trees are strong and rarely break in wind and rain storms. Klehm's Nurseries, Inc. have 25,000 of these trees on hand and are anxious to tell everyone of their merits.

The Globe Headed elm seen just in front of the school is an outstanding example of the perfect head of small shiny leaves that makes it a very ornamental tree.

Infant welfare clinic Tuesday

Mothers of children less than two years of age are invited to bring their infants to the Infant Welfare Clinic which will be held next Tuesday, April 14, from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m. at the Arlington Heights Health Center, Wing and Vail sts. These conferences are sponsored by the Arlington Heights Health committee and are conducted each month by a local doctor. Dr. Schimmel will have charge of this month's clinic.

Where there is no family physician who checks the baby's health regularly, mothers are particularly urged to attend the clinics. Physical examination, recommendations for immunization, problem of eating, and health habits are discussed so that the best of health can be maintained for these children. Following the conferences Mrs. Clara A. Lund, R.N., of the Health Center, is available to assist mothers in carrying out the doctor's instructions.

Since the health of the child is the power of the nation, every step taken to protect their health and to keep them healthy is also a step toward national civilian defense.

Freeman, noted police leader, is candidate

William O. Freeman, rated as one of the best police administrators in the state, is an independent candidate for republican nomination for sheriff of Cook county. He has won a national reputation for his work in developing modern methods in police training and organization, traffic safety and crime prevention.

His name will head the list of candidates for this nomination on the ballot for the primary election of April 14.

A native of Virginia and long-time resident of Chicago and Evanston, Freeman served in the navy from 1900 to 1907 and is a veteran of the Spanish-American war. He joined the Chicago police force in 1907. In his 34 years of police work he has served for 16 years as a chief of police.

Chosen by crime commission

He rose to the rank of lieutenant in the Chicago police force. When in 1927 the City of Evanston was searching the entire country for the best man to head its police department, the Chicago crime commission recommended Freeman for the post, on the basis of his character and his record on the Chicago force.

Freeman took over the disgruntled and demoralized Evanton force and rapidly built it up to one of the most efficient and best known police departments in the country.

His outstanding accomplishment was the establishment in Evanston of the nation's first accident prevention bureau. This bureau set up a traffic safety program which has been the model for hundreds of cities, counties and states throughout the nation. Its activities under Freeman's administration repeatedly brought Evanston the award of the National Safety Council as the "Safest City in the United States."

First traffic officers' school

The Evanston department, under Freeman's direction and with cooperation of Northwestern university, set up the first traffic officers' school. This has since developed into the famous Northwestern University Traffic Institute sponsored by the Ketterer foundation and the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

While in Evanston Freeman also pioneered in "in-service" police training and in two-way radio for police squad cars. He gave Evanston the first installation of its kind.

From Evanston, Freeman went in 1940 to Bangor, Maine, to take charge of the police force there. He soon established that department on an efficient, well-disciplined basis and brought the city out of its traffic confusion. He resigned a year later to the accom-

Candidate speaks overtime; gives Red Cross $81.25

The Red Cross last week sent a special gift of $81.25 from Denison B. Hull, when the Republican candidate for the Congressman-at-large nomination unavoidably "broke" a campaign pledge.

Studio regulations at radio station WLS in Chicago obliged him to give a political speech of eleven minutes, seven seconds.

Hull, son of the late Congressman Morton D. Hull, attracted national attention as "the five minute man from Illinois" when he opened his campaign recently with the pledge to "save time in wartime" by making no speech longer than five minutes, or pay the Red Cross five dollars a minute for overtime.

WLS authorities told him their regulations permitted no endorsements on a political broadcast, and thus a transcribed program featuring comments on Hull's qualifications and views could not be aired. This program included a two-minute talk by Hull which nine stations in Illinois are broadcasting.

With the time already contracted for, there was nothing for Hull to do except transcribe a longer speech, taking up a good part of the fifteen-minute period. For two other broadcasts over WLS he was also obliged to make "penalty" speeches. The "overtime" totaled $81.25.

"This is my first 'penalty' speech in the campaign," Hull said. "In many talks around Chicago and downstate I have limited myself to three or four minutes. Wartime is time for action and not for talking. When we are all-out for victory, I do not propose to waste the people's time or mine with an overflow of verbiage."

paniment of public testimonials and expressions of regret from civic leaders.

Since then Freeman has been directing anti-sabotage and anti-espionage work for a ship building plant at St. Joseph, Mich.

Freeman's qualifications for the sheriff's office include, not only his lifetime of police and traffic work, but also his familiarity and close contact with law-enforcing agencies throughout the Chicago area. He was the organizer of the Chicago Regional Peace Officers' association and served as its president for three terms.

County commissioners seek re-election

Veteran members again before voters at primaries

Nomination by the Republicans next Tuesday of the present county board members means their re-election in November. Due to the death of Commissioner Caldwell, the fifth position is vacant and John Mackler is the new candidate.

The candidacy on these five is being presented to the Republicans as a group. Wm. Busse, the senior member needs no introduction to voters of northwest Cook County.

WM. BUSSE

He has been a member of the board continuously since 1900.

During his long period of service he has occupied positions on every important committee and taken an active part in many of the county's greatest works.

As senior commissioner from the country towns, Commissioner Busse has been an active, alert leader in opposing extravagance and waste and any measure considered detrimental to the interests of the residents in the county outside of Chicago. His vast experience in every phase of county government has been invaluable to colleagues on the board who have waged a constant battle to obtain efficient, economic administration.

JOHN MACKLER

A long and successful business career and a record of Republican party leadership covering more than 40 years, are emphasized by the many friends of John Mackler, candidate for Commissioner (country towns) in urging support for the southern Cook county resident.

Mackler was the running mate chosen by the four sitting commissioners, led by the veteran William Busse, to make the race with them for re-election. He is said to enjoy the most unanimous support of active Republicans in the south end of the county and has received other regular endorsements throughout the country towns district.

WM. N. ERICKSON

William N. Erickson, of Evanston, candidate for re-election as County Commissioner (country towns) has an outstanding record for attendance upon his duties during the two terms he has been a member of the County board. He is considered to be one of the most popular county officials and has a wide acquaintance that extends to every county in the state.

GEORGE A. MILLER
Commissioner George A. Miller, of Oak Park, with a background of 24 years service on the County board (country towns) is making a vigorous and apparently successful campaign for nomination at the primary polls next Tuesday. Always a popular candidate, Mr. Miller has been pressed into service as one of the leading spokesmen for the endorsed county ticket. With his running mates on the ticket headed by William Busse, Commissioner Miller opposed the Democratic-sponsored county budget and other measures he considered to be unsound and extravagant.

GEORGE F. NIXON

George F. Nixon, completing his first term as Commissioner (country towns) brought to the County board a wealth of business experience gained through years of successful operations in the building and real estate business.

As a former member of the Board of Appeals, Commissioner Nixon, ordered the 15 per cent reduction in taxes on homes and small apartment buildings. He is president of the Metropolitan Chicago Home Owners Association and past president of both the Chicago Real Estate Board and the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards.

Toman urges early payment of taxes

With practically every 1941 tax bill mailed, County Treasurer John Toman urges all who have not received their bill by April 3 to notify his office and get a duplicate bill. Failure to receive your bill does not, he says, exempt the payment of penalties. May 1 is the penalty date for the first installment of the 1941 bill.

The treasurer advises that taxpayers pay early and avoid the many of his men and the fact that he had to reduce his force 69 members, Toman says more than the usual delay may be experienced in the final days of collections.

Already there is a steady flow of payments and many taxpayers are availing themselves of the mails, sending their bills by mail and paying by personal check, postal money order or bank draft.

To those taxpayers who have received refund certificates, Toman says that in turning them in as part payment on their taxes, they must sign the certificate and bring with them their paid 1932 tax bill. These certificates can only be used in payment on the same piece of property. The treasurer says, if you have sold your property, you must make arrangements with the purchaser to take the certificate off your hands. It cannot be cashed or used on any other property.

Senator Art Bidwill aids in solving county tax muddle

Every suburban property owner is interested in the movement started last week to find a practical solution to the deplorable tax muddle in Cook county. Most of the delinquent property is in Chicago, where many large buildings have more taxes due on them than they are worth. The people of the suburbs for the most part pay their taxes quite promptly and this means that they are carrying more than their share of the load for there are $400,000,000 of unpaid taxes on Chicago property.

For the first time this problem is being tackled in a sane, practical way. Democrats and Republicans sat down with civic and business leaders — 72 of them altogether — to see what can be done about collecting as much as possible of these delinquent taxes and getting valuable property back onto the rolls of regular tax payers.

This problem has become so involved it can't be solved by politicians who are thinking only of party organization. They have got to work with business men and take a realistic view of a deplorable mess that has to be cleaned up some way.

At this meeting of business, civic and political leaders four committees were appointed and there was a surprising unanimity as to the steps that will have to be taken. Two points in the program call for legislative action. The first is to secure legislation for clearing titles to the property that is so involved and to prevent a recurrence of such conditions. The second law would authorize a new land lot ledger system with modern machine book-keeping and accounting methods which would show at any time the exact tax situation on a piece of property. The other two remedial proposals are (1) the setting up of a practical collection system with a competent personnel trained for this work, and (2) the elimination of accumulated taxes that can never be collected — an estimated $200,000,000.

This is a big job but it has to be done for the situation is getting worse with every passing month. Time won't solve the problem. It calls for a major operation and the sooner it is done the better.

In the group of men selected to sit in on the tax conference were 42 representatives and two state senators, all of them practical business men as well as party leaders in the legislature.

Arthur J. Bidwill of River Forest was one of the two senators invited to take part in the deliberations. This was a recognition of his ability and with full confidence that he would be re-nominated and re-elected. He is looked upon as one of the influential leaders in Springfield who will be needed to help clear up this deplorable situation. This will be another opportunity to render a fine service to the people and to the varied interests in the Seventh Senatorial district. The proposed plan will mean a great deal to the people of Chicago and it will be a real benefit to all taxpayers who live in the suburbs.

Tax Revenue From Food

Food produced more state sales tax revenue than any other item in Missouri during 1940. It yielded $5,779,958, automobiles $3,683,244.

'As Missouri Goes—'

Tennessee, regularly Democratic till 1920, bolted in that year, going to Harding by 13,000. But the big surprise occurred in 1904, when Missouri, which for years had been considered a Democratic stronghold, voted for Theodore Roosevelt. People may say, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation," but they might better keep an eye on Missouri. In the last nine national elections the candidate who carried Missouri went to the White House. North Dakota has an even better record; she guessed wrong in 1892, but has been on the winning side ever since. Ohio has the same record.

First Overalls

Overalls were first made in the Sixteenth century from Jean cloth, the name being derived from the city of Jean, one of the Moorish capitals of Spain, which was the seat of a large textile industry in the Sixteenth century.

TUESDAY . . . APRIL 14, 1942

To Represent The People In The Country Towns . . . NOT THE POLITICIAN

NOMINATE
JOHN L. BRINK
REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR
SEVENTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT

As president of River Forest, John L. Brink has administered public affairs on a basis of public benefit alone.

This committee of private citizens, feel that his demonstrated ability as manager of public responsibilities is now needed in a wider sphere to serve the country towns in Springfield.

Several of this committee who know John L. Brink intimately, wish to inform you what he has done for River Forest, since his presidency in 1935 and to this date.

Here is his amazing record—

	1935	Today
Indebtedness
Tax Warrants	103,934.08	$ 0.00
Interest on Tax Warrants	12,607.26	$ 0.00
Due Wheel Tax Fund	21,484.10	$ 0.00
Accrued Interest on Bonds	26,709.57	$ 0.00
Public Benefits	14,061.44	$ 0.00
Accounts Payable	35,920.10	Cash basis
	214,716.55

Public Services—far from being stinted upon to achieve this—have steadily and strikingly improved.

The Village police Dept. is a model of efficiency, trained capability and intelligence.

The fire Dept., trained for its work under University of Illinois guidance, can point to the Village's fire insurance rate as to an index of its effectiveness. They are the lowest obtainable in this area—

The public works dept. can make this flat statement. There is not one single bad street in the Village of River Forest.

This is the courageous, straight thinking business man so badly needed in Springfield, where statesmen, not politicians should serve the citizens of the country towns of Cook County.

He is endorsed by every woman's club on the North Shore.

John L. Brink's name is on the Republican Ballot—last name in the first column.

This committee knows he will serve you in Springfield, in the same manner that "Curly" Brooks has served you in Washington.

County Government

Candidate for President County Board

WILLIAM BUSSE

Candidate for Member County Board

The country towns of Cook County and particularly the northwest country towns — where William Busse was born, attended school, grew to manhood, became a business man and entered public service — have the opportunity at the coming primaries to again express their confidence in him and the kind of service that he has given Cook County for many years.

The Republican party of entire Cook County showed its good sense by insisting that Mr. Busse become candidate for president of the board. His name will appear on all Republican ballots used in Chicago and the country towns at the primaries next Tuesday.

Republicans and Democrats alike and especially we of the Northwest Towns know Mr. Busse. We know the service that he has given. He has always been ready to listen to his constituents of the country towns, regardless of individual politics. He has been unwilling to be a party to any questionable proceedings. He has fought long and hard against spoils politics. No other public official has been praised as frequently in the editorial columns of the press.

Cook County is to be congratulated on the opportunity to place a man of Mr. Busse's caliber at the head of the county government. If he is elected president of the board as well as its member, Cook county will have an efficient and economic administration. It will mean the end to the present party bossed control of the county government.

Cook county has waited forty years for a return to Republicanism in the conduct of its affairs.

It will not need to wait any longer if you Republicans:

FIRST: Insure Mr. Busse's nomination by casting your vote for him at the primary election.

SECOND: Talk and work for Republican success at the polls next November.

LIFE WITH MOTHER

Dear Eleanore:
Will Davy, Louis and Charlotte have those cute egg-shaped made by Mommie for their Easter Baskets? It seems like only a month, though it was last Easter that Rob and I dropped in at Shady Rest to find you and Dave making those Easter surprises for Davy and Louis. I remember you hurried and made extra ones for us to take home to George and Edward. And, weren't they delighted with them? I often wonder who gets the most pleasure out of the holidays... the children or the parents.

Tuesday noon, we heard a great honking in the driveway. It was our rural postman with a Special Delivery. You have no idea how country folk look forward to the mail and it's always very exciting when he appears in the yard for then we know he has something extra special. Jack rushed out to his car and was given a large package marked "Book."

This proved to be the most fascinating Easter present for Edward from Rob's aunt Margaret. Being a thoughtful gift selector and a teacher of many years experience, she never fails to select the proper book for the child's age. This one is a pre-school reading book called, "Our Story Book," written by a woman teacher of Columbia University. This book with its hinged pages and because of its great size, was accompanied by a dear little easel, on which George immediately placed the book. The pictures of the characters (including a Scottie named Mac) are all in lovely colors and are unusually large. The print must be two inches high, at least.

George read the story aloud while Edward carefully turned the pages. (40 in number). I'm sure Aunt Margaret would be pleased to see the two of them sitting on the floor before the nicest of all presents... a good book.

Hold your breath! You're in for a surprise. I have a new bonnet... and I MADE it! Fancy that! After reading all about Adrian of Hollywood's Fashion Show at the Drake and looking at the newspaper Ads for Easter, I decided I HAD to have a new hat. I took a couple of hat boxes down from the closet shelves and looked over the contents. "Shucks," said I to myself, "these whimsy bits we've been calling hats ought to be easy to make. I can't afford to buy a new one, so I'll make it." Well, darling, I'll let you decide when you see it what you want to call it, but for me, it looks like a glorified Easter basket.

I bought three large white cotton carnations with pale green stems; sewed them high in the center of a yard and a half of white grosgrain ribbon. This ties in a loop at the back of my head. Then I wrap a yard of pale green veiling over face and flowers and... there I am.

What with my new hair-dress piled high on my head, and all this frou-frou on top, you can see, I could easily be taken for a basket the Easter bunny left. Bobby's only comment was, "Mother, what will you think up next?"

Janice gave a lovely luncheon yesterday. I say lovely as well as delicious for her table appointments were so pretty and Spring-like. A low and beautifully arranged bouquet for the center of the table, consisted of white stock, yellow and lavender tulips.

Dorothy and I drove to Evanston first to pick up Virgie Cross and her Mother. The old familiar drive along the North Shore never grows stale to me. I'm sure it is where I enjoyed being a passenger, as I could turn my head here and there at will; never having to think about crossings and stop and go signals. Janice is one of the most gracious and hospitable hostesses I know. A visit to her home is always a delightful experience. All the guests brought their Red Cross knitting and between the sounds of animated chattering, the clinking of knedles could be heard. That is, if anyone stopped talking long enough to listen. Women sound like magpies when they all talk at once. But gosh it's fun. Isn't it?

This thought reminds me that, you and I have simply GOT to have a day to ourselves and darn soon. Everytime we try to have a visit with all the children around, we arrive at no conclusions whatsoever. Sentences are left unfinished in mid-air. When we part, it is almost as if we hadn't really met. It's too... well, it's exasperating. How about a day... full day... for lunch and the Art Institute right after Easter? Jack and George are having Easter week vacation, so I didn't have anyone come in to stay with Edward yesterday while I was at Janice's party. For some reason, Jack decided to put down on paper all the happenings that took place while I was away. Upon my return, he handed me a little notebook. The contents are choice and I'm re-copying them for you with changes made only in the spelling.

"George started day by teasing Ed with hose extension of vacuum cleaner then proceeded hitting him about three times. Tried to pick a fight with me by hitting me with a book. Thinks he is the boss of the house because of what you told him this morning. One GOOD thing... George used vacuum on the living room rug. Ed would not eat cup cake in kitchen. Threw hose attachment down and dislocated front part. Did not break it. Kicked cabinet in kitchen. George says, I teased him by telling him he wasn't the boss and he says I picked on him but I didn't. George slugged me four times. Admits picking on Ed. A GOOD thing of Ed's... he washed the lunch dishes. George says I should put this in... that he picked up the scraps of paper from the floor. George didn't finish his lunch properly and crawled under the table. Tried to tease Ed by saying he didn't have to take a nap. George sat on your antique chair and hit on the piano. Ed would not come in when I told him to after getting mail. Ed would not stop crawling on the floor when I told him to stop. George would not stop jumping over Ed's easel. Swatted Ed with a pillow. George swatted Ed with rolled up magazine. George and Ed dusted all of the downstairs furniture. George cleaned up his room. Ed found some root beer and shared it with George and me. George tried to take Ed's chair at the table. George told me to put these down... all the things I did. First, pushed him down, second, teased him by telling him he wasn't the boss of the house; third, put my hand on his head; fourth, pushed his foot. (Note: This was signed in George's handwriting). George teased Ed by telling him he made too much noise eating. George kicked me from under the table. When I told him to go up stairs and see what Ed wanted, he said, 'I don't want to' and he didn't. Signed, Jack.

Isn't it a miracle, I found them all alive and whole when I returned? I see in the Reader's Digest where Edwin Arlington Robinson was once asked if he did not think his sense of humor had lengthened his life. "I think," he replied, "my life has lengthened my sense of humor." So be it.

With love to all,
Mary

Defense workers must have social security cards

Failure to present your social security account number card at defense and ordnance plants' employment offices may mean the loss of an opportunity to obtain employment. Social Security Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor, has announced that defense workers must have their social security cards with them when they go to work. The cards are free of charge at the nearest Social Security Board Office.

"We have received information at the local Board office," Miss McGuire said, "which indicates that many workers applying for defense jobs have been unable to produce their social security account number cards when requested to do so by the hiring officer. This has prevented many workers from being placed immediately on plant pay rolls. A social security card is needed by every worker planning to obtain employment in commerce or industry."

Residents of Evanston, Wilmette, Winnetka, Glenview, Northbrook, Northfield, Morton Grove, Techny, Lincolnwood, Golf and Kenilworth should contact the Social Security Board field office at 1603 Orrington Avenue, Evanston, for this service. The same rule applies when an individual desires to file a claim for old age or survivors benefits.

'Good Night Ladies' opens at Blackstone

"Good Night Ladies," the heralded high in racy farce comedies, co-starring Buddy Ebsen and Skeets Gallagher, comes to the Blackstone theater on its current road show tour, opens Sunday night, April 12.

Described as an hilarious, mad and daring play about a gentleman's phobia of scantly dressed females, the production is a streamlined version of the sensational story by Avery Hopwood and Charleton Andrews and adapted by playwright Cyrus Wood. It was staged by Edward Clark Lillie and is on tour under the producing aegis of Howard Lang and Al Rosen, two successful Broadway impresarios.

"Good Night Ladies" marks the footlights return of both Ebsen and Gallagher after achieving stardom rank on the Broadway stage and since winning equal prominence on the screen. Buddy, the dancing-comedian of scores of suchman theater, was last seen in the Gotham theater as star of "Yokel Boy," the memorable musical comedy hit. Gallagher was acquired for films after a notable Manhattan career in countless musical comedy successes.

A notable cast of feminine players appear in featured supporting parts, providing the largest stage full of beauties since the stage hit "The Women." They include Bernadine Hayes, Vivian Austin, Marlo Dwyer, Dora Clement and Frances Knight. Others of importance are Lottie Harrison, Cecil Elliott, Mary Ellen Popel, Gayle Mollot, Beatrice Newport, John McAvoy and Gloria Hallward.

The Blackstone engagement is limited with performances scheduled every night and matinees on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Walther League

We must get this reminder in this time — next Thursday and Friday, 16th and 17th, those well known actresses and actors over Schaumburg way will present one of their plays this time "Here Comes Charlie." They have been working on it for a long time and promise that it will be super just like their others were. Tickets may be purchased from any of the Schaumburg members. It will be held at the Roselle school hall so don't stop at Schaumburg and then wonder why no one is there.

Another reminder for the Talent Night at Arlington this coming Sunday. A great number of handicraft and hobby exhibits have been promised, and a one and a half program has been arranged. The display will open at 7:15, and the program at 8:00. No admission will be charged, but a free will offering will be taken. This will be of interest not only to Leaguers but to church members, friends, families, and neighbors. Be sure to come yourself and bring as many along as possible.

Now is the time to purchase your tickets for the Wilmette Walther League A Capella Chorus concert at Park Ridge on the 19th. All society presidents have tickets which sell for 35c.

Arlington had its spring election Monday night and have chosen for their leaders — Kurt Meyer, president; Howard Hasz, vice president; Lois Bokelman, recording secretary; Lorna Meyer, corresponding secretary; Margaret Gehrs, treasurer; Edna Meyer and Art Harting, board members. We know that these capable leaders will keep the society intact now during the transition period.

Kurt Meyer celebrated his birthday the 2nd and Ruth Schulte celebrated on the 9th. Congratulations to both.

It Happened Here

HAPPEN HERE LIGHTS OUT

Are the fires banked and ashen, The wicks turned dim and low? From kitchen and parlor, see you, No streak of light shall show. Stare out at the darkened highway Where the cars like beetles crawl, No lights, no lights, please heaven, When death rides over all. Let furnace and forges blacken And night close down on the mills And fire which once men worshipped Die out on the signal hills. Let the beacons fail on their towers, Fit place for the vultures to roost. Let no beam from them cross the heavens. When the powers of death are unloosed, Let the City's towers rise starkly, No longer with jewels to bloom And the boulevard's sinuous river Be curtailed in Stygian gloom. On the face of the deep, it is written, Darkness moved in primeval night, In chaos and murk were the birth throes. When God said, "Let there be light."

State sales tax on newspapers voided by court

Newspapers and magazines are not subject to the Illinois sales or retailers' occupation tax, Judge Harry M. Fisher in Circuit court held. He ruled in the case of the Calumet Publishing Company and other concerns, against George B. McKibbin, director of finance and Warren Wright, state treasurer. At the same time the judge's ruling severed the newspapers' case from that of the other concerns involved.

The newspapers had filed intervening petitions in the original case, which involved sheet music and books as well as magazines. In his decision, Judge Fisher held books are subject to the tax and that it must be paid on their sales. "Books," the judge's opinion said, "are purchased for long continued use. We put them on our shelves. We keep them for reference and in fact, for the decoration of our homes. The motion to dismiss (book sales) accordingly will be overruled."

It is the position of the complainants (newspapers) that the newspaper dealers and distributors render service to the public and that the sale of the newspaper for some trifling consideration is simply incidental to the business of disseminating news and information. It also is claimed that there are no sales of tangible personal property within the meaning of the (sales tax) act; that what is in fact sold, "are purchased for long continued use. We put them on our shelves. We keep them for reference and in fact, for the decoration of our homes. The motion to dismiss (book sales) accordingly will be overruled."

Analyses Sales of Papers "It is hard to escape the conclusion that the publishing and selling of newspapers is primarily a service occupation, and that the thing that is being sold is gathered-up material for the enlightenment or entertainment of those who purchase the newspaper; that the paper upon which the material is printed is simply the vehicle or the instrument by which the information is passed on from the publisher who gathered it to the person who seeks it.

Some rubber will be available for repairing tires of Class B users this April, but the Office of Price Administration warns that it will be almost entirely reclaimed rubber and that those whose tires are retreaded or replaced with this substance, had better not drive faster than 35 miles an hour. Even at low speeds, tires so treated may not be good for more than 5,000 miles.

Scrap of Information... WPA's Labor Division estimates that at least 4,000,000 women workers may be required as production soldiers by the end of next year. Although the output of razor blades has been cut, there will be approximately one blade a week for each adult male and this, believe it or not, is average. WPA has revised its farm equipment program to provide machinery for greater production of edible oil, sugar, potatoes and general food products. Dealers and wholesalers who have shotguns, pistols and rifles in stock have been ordered to report to the government on their inventories.

Northwest Art league exhibit opens Saturday

On Saturday, April 11, members of the Northwest Art League of their guests and the clubwomen of the Seventh District will gather at Mandel Brothers for the formal opening of the League's Spring Art Exhibit.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock with Rev. Irvin St. John Tucker, president of the League as Master of Ceremonies. Guests of honor include Anna Lynch and Leon Pescheret, artists; and Mrs. Burton A. Noyes, president of the Seventh District, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs. Mrs. Mildred Jordan, contralto and president of the Seventh District Women's club chorus is the soloist.

Mrs. Robert P. Kilbert, vice president, is in charge of arrangements; and Mrs. F. L. Wutzke, 1414 Farragut ave., social chairman, is receiving reservations.

The show will continue throughout the month of April.

Dusting Cloth
Pieces of fine, soft wool make the best dusting cloths, cleaning specialists say. Next in usefulness are soft cotton, especially knitted materials or cheesecloth, and linen.

THE HOME FRONT

A weekly directory of contract opportunities, a shortcut method of bringing prime and subcontractors together to negotiate possible war orders, will be given a test in Chicago, it was announced by George A. Landry, staff branch chief of the Production Division of the War Production Board. To be used much as a dictionary or a telephone book, the contract directory will give the small business man an up-to-the-minute picture of how he can fit into war production. Illinois Director Joseph L. Overlock of the WPA Contract Distribution Branch will be in charge of the experiment.

The plan permits "advertising" for jobs to be done and making an immediate contact between the man who has a job to let and the man who is looking for work, Landry explained.

In the past few days, WPA orders reached almost literally from the cradle to the grave and deep into the household in an effort to meet war demands for metal.

One order limited the amount of iron and steel which may be used in caskets and for other burial purposes, prohibited the use of other metals — except gold and silver — all together. Another order decreed that after the end of June no more metal shall be used in the manufacture of children's toys.

Still a third order limited the use of iron, steel and zinc in a long list of kitchen utensils and miscellaneous household articles. The consumers durable goods branch urged that, wherever possible, such utensils be made of glass and wood and earthenware, or materials less vital to the war effort.

WPA has ordered production of vacuum cleaners discontinued after April 30 as part of a move to convert plants and equipment to military purposes. The song of the lawn mower will be heard in the land this summer but it will be a muted tune. All mowers, except those used to harvest crops, will go out of production after June 30.

Some rubber will be available for repairing tires of Class B users this April, but the Office of Price Administration warns that it will be almost entirely reclaimed rubber and that those whose tires are retreaded or replaced with this substance, had better not drive faster than 35 miles an hour. Even at low speeds, tires so treated may not be good for more than 5,000 miles.

Things to watch for Fewer towels, less free stationery, unwrapped soap cakes with your hotel room... more plastics used in toys — first in line for the "sandbox" season are an all-plastic train and an all-plastic miniature "Jeep" car... A transparent liquid said to render ordinary window glass relatively shatter-proof (for emergencies) and to be removable by soap and water... Vitamin-enriched beer (by re-inserting the vitamins that used to be in it naturally until modern methods filtered them out)... Speed-up in marketing of many things in plastic tubes instead of tin ones now that the "tube for a tube" edict emphasizes the tin-saving need.

Bloomington cyclist is hurt by automobile

Max Gretsche, 12, son of Mrs. Carl Gretsche of Bloomington, was seriously injured Friday night when he was knocked off his bicycle by an automobile driven by J. R. Slattery, Chicago, at the intersection of Lake street and Bloomington avenue in Bloomington.

An ambulance, en route from Oregon to Chicago, came upon the accident scene a few minutes after the boy was injured, and he was taken to Belmont hospital in Chicago. He was in severe shock when he was admitted and an examination revealed he was suffering from a fractured leg, bruises, abrasions, and shock.

Deputy sheriffs from Wheaton investigated the accident. Slattery told the officers the boy rode his bicycle directly in front of the car which was eastbound on Lake street road.

Deep in the heart of Texas

Fort Bliss, Texas April 4

Again from Texas.

All the fellows from Illinois thought they would get transferred closer, but instead we all went a little farther away. Fort Bliss is 10 miles from El Paso and a short ride to the border of Old Mexico.

Fort Bliss is nice, and is surrounded all by mountains and nice scenery. We all sleep five to a tent. The only thing is, whenever we get a heavy rain it washes all sorts of snakes and small creatures down in camp, which come right into the tents, including rattlesnakes and copper heads. It sounds kind of dangerous, but that's just how it is. The weather otherwise is swell.

The temperature now is about 84 degrees at 7 p. m. In the afternoon it ranges around 90 degrees, sometimes a little higher. We are about 3,750 feet above sea level and the air is very dry, everyone has chapped lips and face. Everyone looks like Indians from this hot sun and Oh boy these G. I. hair-cuts are really something, only 1 1/2 inches long.

No furloughs will be issued until about July and that depends on if we are here by then. So, good luck to you all out Palatine way.

Get the Enterprise every week from home, and it's mighty good to see all the news every week from home.

Draft board membership increased

Paul G. Armstrong, State Director of Selective Service today announced that the membership of each of the 361 Local Selective Service Boards in Illinois has been increased by two members. The names of the 722 men who have been recommended by Governor Green to the President for appointment have been sent to Washington. It is expected that confirmation will be made immediately.

Director Armstrong said there were several reasons for increasing the number of board members at this time. "Because of the greatly increased number of registrants," he said "the local board of three members have been swamped with work. These men are volunteers. They sacrifice much of their personal time to the work of Selective Service without compensation. It seemed unfair to increase their burden without giving them additional help. Also in communities where agriculture is the predominant industry it also seemed that Local Selective Service Boards should have an increased farmer representation. In such communities the new members, wherever possible, have been chosen from the farmers of those communities."

4-H Clubs mobilize all farm youth this week

Enrollment of three million expected

Farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 20 are within the next age group to be inducted into service for their country, but they'll remain right on the farm and in the home.

They will be "mobilized" April 5-11, designated as "National 4-H Mobilization Week." A potential enrollment of 3,000,000 is expected to result from the campaign. Already, 1,500,000 are enrolled for regular project work throughout the country, and there are 36,000 in Illinois alone.

Reminiscent of World War I days, when a similar mobilization of farm youth was made, the purpose of the present mobilization drive, as outlined by 4-H officials, is to help 4-H members do all they can in support of the war program and to make club work available to all rural boys and girls.

"Four-H boys and girls are mobilizing themselves and their friends to take part in the most important thing that ever happened to these United States; the contribution of every man, woman and child to preserve our way of life," according to 4-H officials of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, who are launching the campaign in Illinois in cooperation with county farm and home advisers.

Every county is being organized in order that each farm boy and girl within the 4-H age limits will be contacted during the week and given an opportunity to enroll. It was explained that every 4-H member belongs to a local club and carries out a project at home under the supervision of an adult known as a local leader. Girls are encouraged to join home economics clubs, which in 1942 are stressing home-grown health and meal planning. Boys join agricultural clubs, which in 1942 are emphasizing victory gardens, ton-litter hog projects, poultry and dairy projects, which will contribute most to the war production program.

There must be at least five young people in a community willing to join in order to form a club. Such clubs meet at regular intervals to transact business and discuss project work. Social and recreational activities are a part of each club meeting, and opportunities are provided for 4-H members to exhibit their project work.

Evidence of Illinois 4-H members' potential contribution to the food production program is that these boys and girls in 1941 helped produce and conserve family supplies of garden products, poultry, pork, milk, and eggs. In addition, the 4-Hers collected aluminum, paper and scrap iron and bought defense stamps and bonds.

In the pork project alone, there's evidence that 4-Hers are helping to supply meat for home and allied use. "Since we have included the ton-litter project in our 4-H work the past three years, seven ton-litters have been produced and our enrollment in the sow and litter project has practically doubled," reports H. D. Van Matre, Iroquois county farm adviser.

Opening the mobilization campaign will be special 4-H broadcasts over WLL, radio station of the University of Illinois, during the Illinois Farm Hour, from 12:30 to 1 p. m., beginning Monday, March 30, and continuing throughout the period of mobilization. The National Farm and Home Hour will have a special 4-H mobilization broadcast Saturday, April 4, from 11:30 to 12. In addition special broadcasts will be presented throughout mobilization week by county farm and home advisers having access to radio stations.

Light touch does trick in cleaning dirty wall paper

Removing a year's accumulation of dust from wallpaper takes a light-handed touch, but Miss Gladys Ward, home management specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, assures homemakers that homemade cleaners plus careful application will remove ordinary soil from most wallpaper.

A good homemade wallpaper cleaner, prepared in small quantity calls for 1½ cups of water, ½ cup salt, 2 tablespoons of alum or aluminum sulphate, 1 tablespoon of kerosene or 1 tablespoon carbon tetrachloride and 2½ to 3 cups of flour.

The bread flour should be of good grade. Water, salt and either aluminum sulphate or alum are placed in a large kettle and heated to 180 degrees F. or until bubbles appear on the bottom of the pan. Then the solution is removed from the stove and the kerosene added. Finally the flour is added and stirred in quickly to prevent lumps forming. The mass is stirred until a thick paste forms and the dough kneaded until it is smooth and not sticky.

A small ball of dough is stroked across the soiled wallpaper and discarded as it becomes soiled. The strokes should be light and even and the work continually downward.

This is not a job to hurry through, Miss Ward pointed out. Hard rubbing often streaks and roughens the paper.

Washable papers are cleaned satisfactorily by wiping them with a cloth wrung out of clear lukewarm water and drying with a clean cloth. However, excess water is likely to be absorbed by the paper. If the paper is of firm quality, it may be cleaned with soap jelly and a sponge or cloth. After the surface is cleaned, it is rinsed with clear, lukewarm, soft water and wiped dry.

"Hybrid" doesn't mean anything in seeds except corn

The word "hybrid," unless applied to corn, is just a "catch word" to help sell poor quality seeds, believes L. V. Sherwood, agronomist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

"It doesn't mean a thing in oats, wheat, barley, soybeans and a lot of other seeds," he said. The best thing is to check with reliable persons on available varieties and recommended sources of seed. Sherwood advises farmers. Farm advisers and the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture have information on many recommended varieties.

A safe way to handle the noxious weed problem is to send a small sample to the State Department of Agriculture in Springfield for a free analysis. There is no charge for the first five samples sent in by each person.

The main things to consider in buying seed, as listed by Sherwood, are:

1. Choose a high-yielding, well-adapted variety.
2. Use plump, bright, clean seed—it's more likely to be disease free and yield well.
3. Avoid sowing noxious weed seeds.

4. Buy from reliable dealers. Beware of "hybrids" except in corn, and then be careful.

Calamity Nig does her part

Calamity Nig of Elmwood Farm 2d, registered Holstein cow owned by Herbert Mayer of Palatine, produced enough milk this past year to provide adequately for one child from birth until he is old enough to enter college, says The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

"Calamity," as she is called by her owner, made this record on a three times daily milking schedule beginning when she was two years, eleven months of age. Her year's total was 16,085 pounds of milk with 574 pounds of butterfat.

The University of Illinois and The Holstein-Friesian Association of America supervised the making of this record, and it will be permanently recorded by the Association.

Beef cattlemen who have been feeding three and four year old stored corn have had the most trouble. Their cattle seem to thrive well for some time, until their front legs begin to swell. In severe cases large, soft swellings in the forequarters are noted. Lameness, loss of appetite and the rapid loss of flesh are other symptoms.

In most cases it has been found that the roughage portion of the ration has been a non-leguminous nature. Francis says this indicates that the cattle may be suffering from vitamin A deficiency.

Chemical analysis of stored yellow corn indicates that the corn contains only half as much vitamin A as does corn that is a year old or less. Therefore cattle on a ration of stored corn and grass may have such unusual symptoms after having been on full feed for six months or more.

These same precautions should be taken whether the farmer is feeding regular white corn or stored yellow corn. In other words farmers experienced in feeding white corn should handle their stored corn according to these same recommendations, Francis said.

Good pastures save labor in dairy farming

One of the best ways to conserve labor on the dairy farm is to plan now for a cropping system that will furnish an abundance of succulent pasture from early spring until late fall, according to C. S. Rhode, of the dairy department, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

For those who are depending on permanent pasture alone, the use of annual pasture crops will greatly improve the amount and quality of pasture available during the summer. Oats seeded as early as possible this spring may be pastured in four to six weeks. Sudan grass seeded after corn planting time on fertile, well-prepared soil will be available by about the first of July, when the permanent pasture will be needing help.

Legumes or mixtures of grasses and legumes seeded with a nurse crop will usually make good fall pasture. If needed, the nurse crops may be grazed, but cattle should be removed from such fields in wet weather.

Dairymen in a northern Illinois dairy herd improvement association who had alfalfa for pasture during the summer produced 100 pounds of milk 25 cents cheaper than other dairymen who had ordinary grass pastures, according to a study by the college's dairy department. The study also showed that four hours less labor a day were required to care for a dairy herd in the summer than in winter, evidence of the importance of good pasture in reducing labor requirements.

Further information concerning the improvement of pastures to save valuable labor is available in a new publication, "Renovating Worn Permanent Pastures," prepared by R. F. Fuelleman, agronomist of the College. Free copies may be obtained from farm advisers or the university.

Steel-bin stored corn is believed low in vitamin a

"If you are feeding corn more than two years old which was stored in government steel bins, be sure to feed two pounds of good legume hay daily with it to prevent losses from vitamin A deficiency," cattle feeders were warned today by Fred C. Francis, assistant in animal husbandry at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Beef cattlemen who have been feeding three and four year old stored corn have had the most trouble. Their cattle seem to thrive well for some time, until their front legs begin to swell. In severe cases large, soft swellings in the forequarters are noted. Lameness, loss of appetite and the rapid loss of flesh are other symptoms.

In most cases it has been found that the roughage portion of the ration has been a non-leguminous nature. Francis says this indicates that the cattle may be suffering from vitamin A deficiency.

Chemical analysis of stored yellow corn indicates that the corn contains only half as much vitamin A as does corn that is a year old or less. Therefore cattle on a ration of stored corn and grass may have such unusual symptoms after having been on full feed for six months or more.

These same precautions should be taken whether the farmer is feeding regular white corn or stored yellow corn. In other words farmers experienced in feeding white corn should handle their stored corn according to these same recommendations, Francis said.

Soil building is backbone of food production

Backbone of the food-for-defense program in Illinois is sound soil building.

The growing of good crops of such legumes as sweet and red clover and alfalfa for soil improvement is as important for maximum farm production as efficient management of war industries is for maximum production of war equipment, believes G. M. Linsley, agronomist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

This method of long-time soil improvement and erosion control has been advocated for 25 or more years by the college's extension service and county farm advisers. However, if high yields of corn, soybeans and other crops needed by the United Nations are to be produced during the next few years, these soil building legumes must be grown on the land every three or four years to supply the needed nitrogen and organic matter. Besides, these legumes are also essential to the efficient production of livestock and livestock products.

Where the soil contains enough lime, clovers seeded this spring will provide cheap, high quality feed and will also supply the fertility needed to produce crops in the future. High yields of hybrid corn need especially large amounts of nitrogen. A good crop of sweet clover plowed under this spring will supply about 160 pounds of nitrogen, 100 pounds of which is taken from the free supply in the air.

If the land has not been limed, the soil should be tested for acidity and the lime applied where it is needed this year for next year's clover seeding. On soils that have been limed but which are low in phosphorus, phosphate will need to be applied.

Illinois farmers have already limed but which are low in phosphorus, phosphate will need to be applied.

Illinois farmers have already limed about six million acres of acid land and are growing more than two million acres of sweet clover, red clover and alfalfa in the food and feed production and soil-building program. These farmers will be able to contribute more to the production program and make more profit for themselves during the next few years if they will continue to grow legumes regularly, Linsley said.

Mastitis control program launched by the university

Mastitis, an inflammation of the cow's udder which may reduce milk flow 20 per cent, may be controlled by proper herd management, early diagnosis and treatment, according to "A Herd Program of Mastitis Prevention and Control," issued recently by the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Prepared by the college's animal pathology department, the publication which may be obtained free from farm advisers or the university, points out that an organized effort in mastitis control is needed in many Illinois communities.

"Each herd is a separate problem of management, diagnosis and treatment," the publication states. "The voluntary cooperation of every herd owner, local veterinarian and the animal pathology laboratory constitutes the best approach to the successful control of the disease."

The publication lists such herd management methods as the feeding of balanced rations, approved breeding programs, clean stables, clean cows, clean milk, clean milkers, herds free from tuberculosis and Bang's disease, and disinfection, quarantine and isolation.

A utility truck for mastitis control is suggested to expedite sanitary measures and testing work. Space is provided in the booklet in which the herd owner can list his animals and record the mastitis diagnosis of each. A blank is provided in the back of the booklet for herd owners to enroll in the mastitis prevention and control program.

Cardinal baseball nine plays first game this Friday

by GERALD A. MC ELROY

Two weeks from Saturday, on April 25, one of the big sports events of the year in this area in prep competition will be held at Palatine in the 10th running of the Palatine Relays. Each year the meet has attracted more schools and has brought out better competition. Last year nine new records were chalked up and a total of 23 schools competed.

Naperville took class A for the fifth time, with Arlington second and Lake Forest third. In class B Palatine was winner by a two point margin over Bensenville. Both schools had more than twice as many points as third place Geneva. Coach Nelson's Geneva team had taken Class B for three years in a row. Besides Naperville the only A class winners have been Arlington and Libertyville, each winning on two occasions.

Meat Awards Cost $83.00

Over 20 schools have already indicated that they will enter the meet this year. An entry fee of $3.00 a team is charged to partly defray the expense of medals and trophies which amounts this year to a total of $83.00. With other expenses such as a starter's fee, rent of bleachers, trucking, and incidentals the total expense exceeds $100.00. For the past two years Palatine high school has had a deficit on the meet of from five to ten dollars though ideal weather has prevailed.

An Outstanding Sports Spectacle

The Palatine relays deserves support not just to help the school keep out of the red, but because of the entertainment provided by this sports spectacle. Every year between 10 and 20 competitors at this meet qualify for the state finals at Champaign. Last year the meet produced three boys who placed in the state meet and one, Zedrow of Naperville, won the state 100 yard dash.

Crawford on mound for locals

The baseball season will open locally on Friday of this week when the high school Cardinals meet Northbrook high school at Recreation Park. Jim Crawford, a junior who won his letter last season, will be on the mound with either Mel Harting or Don Winkelman behind the plate.

The Cardinals, who slipped to third place in 1941 after riding high for several seasons, will make a determined bid to regain leadership. Their success will depend on how well they fill the gaps in the line-up which were left by graduation.

Forty-five candidates responded to the call for baseball. Almost two-thirds of these are freshmen and sophomores, so that experienced material is obviously scarce. Besides the battery men named above, the only returning lettermen are Ted Decker, Len Johnson, Merlin Kost, and Jim Millay. However, three of these are infielders, which should give the Cards a steady defense.

The pitching will be satisfactory whenever Crawford is on the mound. As a sophomore he moved up from freshman-sophomore competition to become a varsity winner. The year's experience should make him an improved workman. Back of him the pitching is a question. Four boys are definite candidates for the number two spot, but will have to prove themselves under fire. All are under classmen, which speaks well for the future.

Whether the Cardinals have hitting depends on the amount of practice and playing they are able to do. Several boys on the probable line-up give promise of hitting well. But hitting requires steady practice as well as ability. Transportation will affect the schedule this year. Already Leyden has announced that its teams cannot travel for games. Unless a revision is made soon in transportation rules, both of the Leyden-Arlington games now on the Northeast Conference schedule will have to be cancelled. It is also proving difficult to arrange for games other than conference contests. The schedule of varsity games as it stands at present follows:

Fri., April 10 — Northbrook, here. (Non-conference).

Sat., April 25 — Niles Twp., here.

Mon., April 27 — Leyden, there.

Thurs., April 30 — Woodstock, there.

Mon., May 4 — Warren, here.

Local teams open dual season Tues.

Palatine, Heights, Bensenville in double meet

Next Tuesday the dual meet season opens for Arlington, Bensenville, and Palatine when they engage in a double dual meet on the Palatine track. Just who might be winners is a real toss up though there is little question but that Bensenville has the outstanding performers. Palatine and Arlington may be well enough balanced in strength to give the Bisons a run for it.

The Bisons seem certain to run one-two in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and should run away with the 880 relay. Kiefer should take the high jump and broad jump and Reetz the discus. These two boys with Audas, the sprint star, make a really big three for Bensenville. Tett and Custer in hurdles and dashes are also very good. Borknack will be Bensenville's strong middle distance entry and Hall will run the mile.

Arlington will have strong entries in most all of the events but may be weak in the sprints. Bolte is good in the hurdles but Grose has any number of good prospects in these events. Geudtner is a good looking lad in the high hurdles and high jump. Niemeyer in the mile and the Kohn twins in the 880 are strong entries, but will have to be good to beat Timmerhaus, Field, Vogt, and Anderson who are expected to score well for Palatine. The Pirates are weakest in the high jump, broad jump, pole vault, and shot put but will hold their own in other events.

Next week Friday, April 17, Antioch and Barrington come to Palatine for a dual meet. In this meet Palatine will rank the favorite with Barrington second best.

Hearing With Two Ears

People hear only slightly better with two ears than with only one, a noted physician states. For all practical purposes, one ear is as sensitive as the two combined, but it takes two ears to discern the direction of a sound without looking for what is making the noise.

Pirate squad seeks defense of '41 title

Saturday Palatine's track team will take a long trip down to Geneseo to compete in the relays meet there in defense of the championship won last spring. Competing in class B with schools under 500 enrollment, the Pirates scored 42 points last year to beat 12 other small schools. Wheaton won the class A title and will return for another try at the traveling trophy.

Coaches McElroy and Stutzman will take a squad of 15 boys on Saturday but just which boys will make the trip will not be announced until near the end of the week. Palatine will compete in six relays and the mile and half runs. All these events are run in classes.

Palatine's high hurdle shuttle of winning the meet again as this season the Pirates are entered in the high hurdle and low hurdle shuttle relays in addition to the events in which they competed last year. Palatine will be fortunate to win any of the relay events, but should rank rather well in all of them. Last year Palatine's mile relay team broke the Geneseo record by a good margin and while the 440 stars of last year are gone Palatine expects this to be their strongest event.

Timmerhaus may win the mile run and even break the meet record of 4:47.8 set by Langhoff last year should the weather and track be right. Vogt, a freshman will also run the mile and should come close to winning a place. Timmerhaus will also run the half mile. Last week in practice he clipped off the 880 in 2:09.8. Either Field or Anderson will also run the half mile.

Palatine's high hurdle shuttle team will be made up of Jones, Guenther, Cramer, and Muehlfelt. Each will run 80 yards over six hurdles. The low hurdle shuttle quartet will be Jones, Guenther, Cramer, and Dinse. Each will run 110 yards over five hurdles. None of the hurdlers are seniors and Palatine has the best future prospects in these events since the days when Harold Meyer used to compete.

In the mile relay the foursome will be Field, Warder, Schwolow, and Anderson or Cipri. The medley relay team will have either Anderson or Field running the half mile, Field or Cipri handling the 440 and Schwolow and either Warder or Dinse running the 220 yard sections.

The half mile relay will be run by Schwolow, Jones, Muehlfelt, and Warder. Weseman, Goodwin, Muehlfelt, and either Plumhoff or Douglas will run the 440 yard frosh-soph relay.

The points at Geneseo are figured on a basis of 10, 8, 5, 3, 1 in the relays and the usual 5, 4, 3, 2, 1, in the individual events. Only the mile and half mile of the individual events are run in classes and in these events there is no limit to the number of entries.

Last year Palatine won the mile relay and took second in the medley, 880 and frosh-soph relays. Langhoff won the mile and Hahnfeldt got fourth in the discus throw. Princeton was second to Palatine last year with 35 points and are expected to be the strongest competition though Toulon and Galva are always in the running. Toulon, by the way, has won the traveling trophy twice and will gain permanent possession with one more meet championship.
